

FANTASTIC/ CHROMATIC

From 11 September
Kristin Hjellegjerde Gallery

Renowned for painting a 300m-long bridge at Canary Wharf for 2012's London Olympics, graphic artist Sinta Tantra brings her latest works to Wandsworth's leading contemporary gallery. In her new solo show, New York-born Tantra will be unveiling pieces that investigate the concept of colour and explore the etymology of the word, "chroma." Effectively using block hues to establish dimension, her paintings are utterly fascinating.

533 Old York Road, SW18;
kristinhjellegjerde.com

SEAN TAYLOR TRIO

2 September

The Half Moon

Spend the night listening to one of the hottest names on the roots and blues scene. Touring all over the UK, Europe and Australia, Sean Taylor returns to his hometown and hits the stage with Hana Piranha on fiddle and James Taylor on drums. 93 Lower Richmond Road, SW15; geronimo-inns.co.uk

INTRODUCTION TO WILDLIFE PHOTOGRAPHY

12 September

WWT London

Not quite sure how to take this National Geographic shot? No matter your skills or the camera you are using, this course will help you to understand your camera and teach you the art of photography. Queen Elizabeth's Walk, Barnes, SW13; wwt.org.uk

ROMEO & JULIET

22 September

Odeon Putney

Since Sir Kenneth MacMillan's Romeo and Juliet has been at the heart of the Royal Ballet's repertoire for 50 years. The tragic story of forbidden love accompanied by ballet at its greatest guarantees a phenomenal experience. A sublime viewing experience. 26 Putney High Street, SW15; odeon.co.uk