Edvard Munch, ArtEco Gallery and Markus Brendmoe

As of the first of May, notable Norwegian artist and long time friend and visitor of Can Serrat, Markus Brendmoe arrived with a group of goddesses from Norway to spend ten days painting in the luxurious atmosphere of Can Serrat. They leave Wednesday, on the 9th of May, where Markus will prepare for his participation in the upcoming exhibition inspired by Edvard Munch at the Art Eco Gallery in London called After Munch.

"The scream" Edvard Munch, 1893

Recently, Munch's piece "The Scream" has made a huge comeback with its auction sale of 119,922,500 USD at the Sotheby's evening sale of May 2. It was created in 1893, but now, nearly two decades later everybody is talking about it, art enthusiast or not. After Munch coincides with the current exhibit of Munch's work at the Tate Gallery, also in London. After Munch opens the 29th of June and shows until the 28th of July, 2012.
