

NORWEGIAN ARTS

January 9 to February 7, 2015

We Never Dream Alone at Kristin Hjellegjerde Gallery

The new year brings an opportunity to

Categories

Art

discover work from one of the most fascinating Norwegian artists working in the UK.

Share this event

Jump to location

A graduate of Goldsmiths and the Royal College of Art, Sidsel Christensen explores the boundaries between inner and outer reality, often using live performance and the moving image to explore the power of imagination to transform perceived realities.

In We Never Dream Alone at the Kristin Hjellegjerde Gallery in Wandsworth, Christensen's work will be shown alongside pieces from London-based American artists Andrew Leventis and Lisa Slominiski, to shape an exhibition that invites the viewer into the boundary zones between fact and fiction, the real and the unreal. Employing a diverse range of media, including video, sound, installation and painting, the three artists have created an unsettling realm of glimpses and murmurs that seems to exist in the state between waking and sleeping.

Christensen's contribution, Study for Composition XI (A Conversation at the Edge of the Object), is a single screen projection of a conversation between her and art collector Thomas Frankenberg set at the end of the world. In her imaginary terrain, the boundaries between objects and their surroundings blur and break down, fragments of art objects and natural come together in unexpected ways, and the sound of Christensen's hypnotically regressed voice creates a trancelike atmosphere throughout the gallery. It promises to be a mesmerising, thought-provoking and engagingly surreal experience.

Where

Kristin Hjellegjerde
Gallery
533 Old York
Road
London, SW18
1TG

When

Tuesday to Saturday,
11am–6pm
Private view:
8 January,
6.30pm–
9.30pm

Website

kristinhjellegjerde.com
sidselchristensen.com

Tickets

Admission is free.

Norwegian Art

Related events

January 15 to March 10, 2015

Darlene & Me by Anja Niemi

at The Little Black Gallery

November 14 to January 11, 2014

Marte Eknæs at Reboot Horizon

at Cell Project Space