TRENDING

February 2024

By Tabish Khan

The Top Exhibitions To See In London: January 2024

By Tabish Khan

Looking for an awesome London exhibition this January? Here's our roundup of must-see shows in the capital

1. Purr-fect competition: Mauro C Martinez at Unit London show tackled the convoluted gaming setups that video gamers have in their homes and now his critical painter's eye tackles professional sports.

2. Emerging artists: New Contemporaries at Camden Arts Centre

Mauro C. Martinez: Practice Makes Purrfect at Unit London. 4 January-3 February, free.

3. Colours & Gold: Alice Irwin & Sinta Tantra at Pitzhanger

The Glass Heart: Art, Industry & Collaboration at Two Temple Place. 27 January-21 April, free.

A chance to appreciate the beauty and diversity of creatives who work with glass, with 100+ works spanning over endangered traditions and techniques, or tackling themes such as marine pollution and Punjabi Desi pub culture in

6. Identity gaming: Danielle Brathwaite-Shirley at Studio Voltaire

the Midlands, this is definitely a case of a glass all full. Plus any exhibition being hosted in Two Temple Place also 170 years from the Great Exhibition of 1851 through to contemporary artists. Whether it be about preserving offers the added bonus of seeing one of our favourite staircases in London.

Copyright Chris Day, courtesy Vessel Gallery. Photo: Agatha Pec

The klaxon to mark the start of the art calendar, London Art Fair (17-20 January, £14+), is back for its latest edition with its usual mix of contemporary and Modern British art. With over 120 galleries showcasing established and emerging artists, and a great series of talks, it's always a pleasure to visit this art fair at the Business Design Centre in Angel.

spectacular. If you're looking for more exhibitions to see then check out our: • Must-See London Exhibitions To Look Forward To In 2024; and Biggest Exhibitions To See In London This Winter Last Updated 18 December 2023 display celebrating the natural world by projecting images onto the outside of the building, and throughout the beautiful architecture and last year's light show about the universe (pictured and by the same company) was underground Crypt, culminating in a light show filling the whole of the church. It's a stunning transformation of the Report a problem with this article

LONDONIST LINKS About us Contact us Subscribe for Email

Advertise with us

Archive

Cookie Policy

Staff & Contributors

The 2023 London Art Fair

Art & Photography Best of London Books & Poetry Comedy Family Festivals Film & TV

CATEGORIES

Food Free & Cheap Great Outdoors History Housing Museums & Galleries Music

News Opinion Politics Pubs Secret Sport Stage

The Top Exhibitions To See In London:

London's Best Whisky Bars By Londonist

At A Glance: What's Happening With London's Transport In 2024 By Will Noble

Talks Technology This Weekend Today Top Food & Drink Transport Videos